

Where You're Going, Love Will Lead You

598

1. Where you're go - ing, Love will lead you. Where you're walk - ing, Love will guide.
2. Let not want or lack con - fine you, Love is ev - er your sup - ply.

If you're hun - gry, Love will feed you. Love is al - ways at your side.
God's great good shall now de - fine you, As on Love your hopes re - ly.

When you're sleep - ing, Love will guard you. When you wak - en, com - fort give.
Though temp - ta - tion may as - sail you, Love will save you lest you stray.

Al - ways faith - ful, Love sur - rounds you, For by Love a - lone we live.
Love's pro - tec - tion nev - er fails you—God is Love and guards your way.

This text, joined here with a tune printed in several early 19th-century American shape-note hymnals, is from a poem entitled "Protection," first published in the October 10, 1925 issue of the Christian Science Sentinel.

WORDS: Elenora E. Pike, adapt.

MUSIC: American melody, Moore's Columbian Harmony, 1825; harm. CSPS

HOLY MANNA

8.7.8.7.D.

Words adapt. and Music harm. © 2016 The Christian Science Board of Directors